Dear Trinity Travelers leadership,

Greetings from Maine, where the view from my office window reports imminent change: the leaves display a variety of colors from God's palette; the air outside has become crisp and is increasingly complimented by the smell of wood-burning fireplaces. Autumn is here and winter quickly approaches. We are reminded that each day is a catalyst of time, and that we must prayerfully tend to today's tasks with diligence while charting a course for tomorrow.

The purpose of ACMNP is to place some of the finest college and seminary student leaders in national park locations across the United States to give a Christian interpretation to the awe that God's creation inspires. ACMNP needs your help to continue recruiting, training, and enabling these ministry volunteers to be strong and clear in their witness for Christ.

Last year your contribution of $195 was significant to the continuance of our ministry. We seek your support again, asking you to join us with one heart, one mind, one purpose, and one direction. If you have already sent your 2007 contribution, know that we are very thankful for your trust.

Gratefully,

Richard P. Camp, Jr.
